PREPARATION FOR TODAY

—THE SENIORS' STORY

August 31, 1956 was a very important day for a certain group of boys and girls who came into Mrs. Waneita Hazlett's room at Russellville School for the first time. We nineteen children were beginning our formal education.

Under the direction of the school trustee, Embert Gardner, everything was in readiness for a fine school year: the school yard and playground were ready for the hard use they were about to receive; classrooms, stairs, and hallways had been thoroughly renovated by the custodian, Audie Jackson; the lunch room and cooking area were spotless as required by those top-notch cooks, Lucille Bushong and Zella Clark; books for the school year were on the tables, and copies of the class schedule were stacked on the desk of the principal, Gale Grimes. The school day could begin. In addition to Mrs. Hazlett, teacher of first and second grades, and Mr. Grimes who taught English, the staff included: Evelyn Reddish, third and fourth grades; Ralph Lawter, fifth and sixth; Kenneth Weaver, social studies and coach; Flora Lee Hazlett, mathematics; Miriam Campbell, music; Margaret Miller, home economics and girls' physical education; Don Patton, agriculture and science; and Pauline Mackey, commerce.

We first graders made friends quickly with the second grade who shared our room and our teacher. The class lost Monna McClure at the end of the first semester, but gained Mike Simpson who came from Ladoga.

The second grade began with eighteen members (Gene Allgood joined us at this time), and the school year was distinguished by the completion of a new gym and home economics and agriculture departments. The boys eyed that fine hard-wood floor . . . the girls visioned plays and dress reviews on that stage, the best in these parts.

Since Mrs. Cooper had replaced Mrs. Reddish as third and fourth grade teacher in September, 1957, she was well prepared to receive us in September, 1958. We remained with her for two years and then entered Mr. Lawter's room in September, 1960.

The boys this year became quite interested in basketball. This was Mr. Chilton's second year as Russellville's coach (he replaced Floyd Snider who had held the position the two preceding years), and he had the opportunity of introducing the boys to the fundamentals of basketball. Playing in the new gym during the noon hour fast became their favorite activity.

Our first money-making project was also begun in the fifth grade. This project was selling garden seeds.

And why earn money?

A custom of the senior class taking a trip was started many years ago. As early as 1935 the senior class visited the Chicago World's Fair. The next year the senior class, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Mr. Donald Cooper, and Mr. and Mrs. Lon Myers, traveled by school bus to northern Indiana and lower Michigan. The class of 1937 was the first to make the trip to Washington, D.C.; Donald Anderson, Jean Barnett, Leo Carrington, Christine Dahlgren, Edna Gibbs, Ralph Harbison, William Myers, Martha Overstreet, Virginia Sewell, and Frank Wilson, Jr. were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hedge and Miss Katherine Butler. They experienced much difficulty finding many roads closed in eastern Ohio due to the severe floods in the Ohio Valley.

With the exception of the years during World War II, later classes took senior trips either by school bus or by private cars. In 1957 the seniors invited the juniors to accompany them and went to Washington and New York by chartered bus. The same routine was followed by the trips in 1959 and 1961.

The classes of 1963 and 1964, instead of going by bus for seven to nine days, joined two other schools and left Weir Cook Airport on a United Air Line plane, the DC-7 mainliner, on Sunday morning and arrived back at school on Thursday morning, visiting both Washington and New York. The classes of 1965 and 1966 preferred the bus trip and joined a junior class from Huntington, Indiana, seeing the sights eastward to Washington and New York, and return.

It became a natural then for us, the class of 1968, to carry on extra-curricular projects, looking toward the educational tour. We have held raffles, operated the coat check, popcorn and coke concessions at ball games, washed cars, sold magazines, hauled junk, and served suppers.

These projects enabled us to join the class of 1967 on that much-heralded trip east.

On May 21, 1967 the classes of '67 and '68, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hazlett, left via Pennsylvania Railroad for an educational trip to Washington, D.C. and New York City.

Brenda . . . on the "Penn Texas".

Arriving in Washington about 9:00 A.M. we boarded a sight-seeing bus, and began a tour of the city. Riding down Constitution Avenue our driver-guide pointed out public buildings and gave interesting dissertations on each. During the day we saw the Iwo Jima Memorial, changing of the guard at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington Cemetery, also the Lee Mansion and the Kennedy grave site and memorial. We toured the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, the Smithsonian Institute, the Arts and Industries Building, the Museum of History and Technology, and the Supreme Court Building. Enroute to Mount Vernon we passed through the historic city of Alexandria, Virginia and saw Christ Church, the George Washington National Masonic Memorial, the ancient cobblestone streets and many hallowed shrines.

On the sight-seeing tour of the city at night we saw the Capital Building, Library of Congress, the Wax Museum, the Archives Building, the Jefferson Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial, and the Washington Monument.

The next day we had guided tours of the Capital Building, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the White House.

Leaving Washington at noon we arrived in New York for a full evening of sight-seeing and entertainment. Going first to the top of the Empire State Building we got a glimpse of New York as street lights were coming on--an impressive sight. By subway we went to Radio City Music Hall for three hours of entertainment--stage and screen.

On Wednesday morning we took the Circle Line tour around Manhattan Island. A narrator, through a public address system, described the points of interest along the shore.

Keeping on schedule, we spent Wednesday afternoon touring New York City. The bus, with a special guide aboard, took us through midtown and downtown Manhattan. We remember especially the Fifth Avenue shopping district, Rockefeller Center, Pan Am Building, Chrysler Building, Madison Square Garden, Greenwich Village, Chinatown, the Bowery, and Wall Street. We were taken on a guided tour of the General Assembly Building of the United Nations before returning to Penn Station for the return trip to Indiana.

Now the class of 1968 is closing "Today's" book and reaching for that of "Tomorrow." Each has made plans for the future, and each will shortly put these plans into operation. "We Can Because We Know We Can."

TODAY'S CLASSES

For seven periods a day, five days a week, thirty six weeks a year Russellville students are kept busy with class work. They use up hundreds of pencils, wear down countless erasers, use much paper, and write many tests,--all in the pursuit of knowledge.

This section gives a glimpse of the academics and the daily routine of school life.

COMMUNITY SCOPE EXPANDS WITH ELEMENTARY BUILDING

Classes started in this building August 28, 1967 with an enrollment of 111 pupils. It contains seven classrooms for kindergarten through the sixth grade. The building also includes a library, modern kitchen, gymnasium (with a stage), office suite with adjoining health unit and supply room. A large black top playground lies in front of the building; in the rear lies the athletic field for track and baseball.

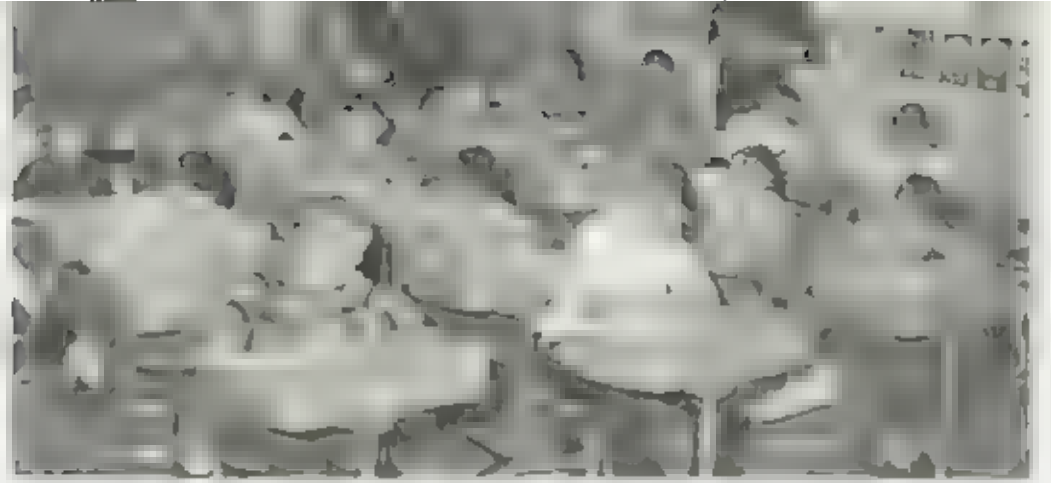

Mrs. Jackson assures that all runs smoothly in the office.

Mr. Lawter directs all school activities.

First graders learn to read.

Fifth grade pupils study spelling.

Mary Ellen reads to second grade.

The sixth grade enjoys science lab.

Mrs. Richardson finishes an art lesson with third grade.

AT THE OCTOBER CONVOCATION Cathy miles shares her travel experiences with other students. From July 16 to August 6, 1967 Cathy was one of fifty-eight 4-H Club members on the Indiana Goodwill People-to-People tour of Europe. She traveled through England, Scotland, Norway, Germany, Hungary, Italy, and Spain. A few highlights of the trip were the Tower of London, Windsor Castle, Berlin Wall, Roman Forum, and a bull fight in Spain. Shown on the screen are four members of the Young Farmers Organization in England.

RACHEL WEBB directs the chorus in eighth grade's Christmas play, "The Miracle at Derrick, Texas." Cast is supported by seventh grade (left) and fifth grade (right).

SPORTS

Each season's SPORT is as welcome as the dawn of a new day. Just as some days are fairer than others, so it is in sports. There are new players new rules, new records . Yesterday is a part of forever; TODAY is ours!

INDIANA SILO COMPANY

Why the INDIANA Is Now Your Best Silo Buy

The Indiana Silo has been designed and engineered by men who possess more than twenty-five years of silo-building experience. It is constructed with concrete staves whose absolute uniformity is achieved by using the most modern equipment known to the industry. Coated with special plastic that gives the interior a glass-smooth finish, the Indiana is ideally suited for the storage of high moisture corn, haylage, or regular silage. Best of all, you can have your Indiana Silo NOW--no waiting, no money down--and with up to seven years to pay, depending on requirements. Invest in the best.
